Food Service Facilities Earn Davis County Awards

(Clearfield, Utah) – Five food service facilities throughout Davis County earned top spots by being selected for Pursuit of Excellence Awards.

In early March, Pizza Hut in Clearfield, Boondocks in Kaysville, Trinity Services Group in Farmington, Costco Wholesale Food Court in West Bountiful, and Marija's Restaurant and Pizza in North Salt Lake were recognized by managers from the Davis County Health Department for those facilities that had exceptional sanitation and food safety programs.

These five facilities met strict, health-related criteria and were nominated by the county health department's Environmental Health Services Division inspectors. Only 5 out of the county's 600-plus fulltime food service facilities were selected for these first-ever Pursuit of Excellence Awards.

Food service facilities within Davis County will have the opportunity to earn the award each year.

According to Dave Spence, director for the department's Environmental Health Services Division, "We congratulate these food safety partners for their hard work and dedication to providing a safe and pleasing food experience to citizens of Davis County. We look forward to continuing this award and working with all of our food safety partners to promote good food handling practices."
